

Your specialty practice is our focus.

And we approach it in the same way you focus on your patients.

Diagnose. Present. Treat. Follow-up.

The way we at Accelerated Practice Concepts help our clients mirrors the way you treat your patients.

Caring for our clients reflects your caring for patients too.

It is this synergy that effectively fosters a mutual understanding with our clients, leading to powerful and effective relationships and, ultimately, healthier patients, stronger practices, and happier doctors.

Our clients routinely report they are reenergized with their specialty in a new way and finding a higher level of fulfillment in what they do.

This is the customized system we follow to help you realize the potential of your practice.

As we get to know your practice, we'll take care to understand your personal goals as well, so the course of action we create and present to you addresses both your professional and personal aspirations. It will be unique to you and your practice, not a generic solution used time and again. And it may not always be what you expect.

Rooted in business basics, our first consideration is identifying what you need to do more effectively for your patient in order to create a more productive practice.

Your practice, for instance, may benefit from methods of managing your team more effectively. Your patients' acceptance of treatment may not be as good as you think. There may be a breakdown in interpersonal communication. You may need a better way to foster healthy communication with your referrals. Your systems may need to be enhanced. Graduate level training in scheduling your time or keeping the hygiene schedule full may be indicated. Or you may have any countless other concerns – all of which we have seen, diagnosed, and treated.

Peace of mind is a wonderful thing. You can rest easy knowing APC will be there for you, just as you are for your patients, to provide guidance and support whenever you need us.

APC clients share success stories.

“THE BEST...THAT IS APC”

What would Bill Gates be without a consultant? What would the President of the U.S. be without a Cabinet? They surround themselves with expertise so the group as a whole can be better. There is no way anyone can be an expert on everything. I choose to be an expert in my field and surround myself with the best consultants so that we're operating at a high efficiency and for the biggest bang for the buck, and that is APC.

Dr. Jason Stoner

“INCREASED PRODUCTIVITY AND EFFICIENCY...”

APC has provided a completely customized consulting experience that has increased my productivity and efficiency while also reducing stress for me and my staff. They have helped me have control over my practice instead of my practice having control over me. Working with APC is one of the best decisions I have made in my career.

Dr. Eman Traynor

“GUIDANCE AND LEADERSHIP ARE AS HIGH A LEVEL...”

My ultimate goal was to make my practice as stress free and as efficient as possible. APC helped with the transition of merging my practice with the existing practice. They also increased my production significantly; my production has doubled. APC continues to be an instrumental part of my practice growth. I would definitely recommend APC for anybody wanting to grow their practice and to have a successful practice. Their guidance and leadership are as high a level and above anything I could recommend to anyone else.

Who better to understand you and your specialty practice?

Specialty dental practices function differently than general practices. APC can boast that half of our clients throughout the years have been specialty practices.

Since 1981 our experience in observing, advising and collaborating with specialists in the United States and Canada provides us a broad and deep perspective for understanding and analyzing your needs and opportunities. More importantly, it provides an objective standpoint for evaluating what will produce positive results for you.

If you are considering consulting, I would tell you that you definitely want to consider APC.

I discovered them through my relationship with a Periodontal Association. I discovered, very pleasantly, they make their living serving specialty practices.

When I became associated with them, that's when things began to cook. They come to your office. They spend time learning about you and your office. They bend to meet your needs.

I highly endorse them.

Dr. Ken Markle

Put APC to work for you.

A senior APC representative will spend two days (or more, if needed) in your practice, observing and getting to know you and your team, your goals, procedures, frustrations and dreams. Afterward, we'll prepare an in-depth analysis of your situation and present a comprehensive report of our findings.

To get started, call 800.642.9876 and request your COMPLIMENTARY analysis and report.
